

Biography: Danielle Clements

Compliance Monitoring Section
Enforcement Division
Texas Commission on Environmental Quality

Current Position

Danielle Clements is the ICIS-NPDES Coordinator for the Compliance Monitoring Section and works with staff to ensure appropriate enforcement actions are taken for TPDES violations as well as to ensure that the violations are resolved by the required due dates. She is also a member of the team responsible for development, testing, and utilization of the NetDMR system.

Education and Prior Experience

Danielle graduated from the University of Texas at Austin in 1999 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Ecology, Conservation, and Evolution. From 2004 to 2005, Danielle worked in the Compliance Monitoring Section of the Enforcement Division, where she handled water quality issues. In this capacity, she has worked with municipal, industrial and general permittees within the TPDES program. In addition to maintaining and monitoring records of the entity's water effluent discharges, she also helped to develop new procedures for water quality enforcement issues and the training of staff.
